Yankees Again Humble Indians—Dodgers Win in Ninth Inning—Giants Beat Out Reds

Home Run Wallop by Baker Potent Factor in 5-2 Victory

Young Waite Hoyt Holds Cleveland's World Champions in Check at Critical Stages, While His Mates Collect Timely Bingles Off Jim Bagby

By R. J. Kelly

Aided by some splendid pitching by young Waite Hoyt, the Yankees gained their second successive triumph over the champion Cleveland Indians at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon and thereby approached to within half a game of the league leadership. The final score was 5 to 2. Another victory in the final contest of the series to-day will lift the Hugmen into first place. Some twenty-thousand fans, the largest crowd that has witnessed a Monday game under the shadow of Coogan's Bluff this season, were on hand for the battle.

With the exception of the fourth and eighth innings, in each of which the Indians bunched three hits and scored one run. Hoyt was practically invincible, as he yielded only three other safaties. The veteran Larry Gardner, who punched out three singles, was the only visitor to meet with any degree of success against Hoyt's offerings.

any degree of success against Hoyt's offerings.

While Hoyt was holding the champions in subjection, his mates were bumping sergeant Jim Bagby for ten solid blows. J. Franklin Baker led the attack with a two-bagger and a home run. The circuit clout, which came in the third inning after Ruth had singled, landed in the extreme lower corner of the right field stands and it just about clinched the decision for the home talent.

Schang Starts the Scoring

Schang Starts the Scoring
After losing a fine opportunity to score in the first inning, when Chick Fewster foolishly tried to sprint from first base to third on Peckinpaugh's infield single, the Yankees rung up a one run lead in the second. With one out Schang dropped a double into left field. Hoyt struck out, but Fewster's hot one along the left field foul line for two bases, scoring Schang.

Th Indians contended that Fewster's wallop landed in foul territory, but Umpire Connolly ruled otherwise, and was a member of the Ne-braska Indian School nine. He is twenty years of age. Jimerson's father, who is a graduate of the famous Carlisle Indian School, pitched for the Phillies under the name of Jamison in 1898 and 1899.

Gardner paved the way for the Indians' first run in the fourth, when he singled to right with one out. Sewell heat out a hit to Peckinpaugh and Doc Johnston followed with another single to center, scoring Gardner. Hoyt easily retired the next two batters.

The Yanks pushed another run across in the fifth on a base on balls, an infield out, an error by Gardner and Pipp's single to Johnston. They lise added another in the sixth on a double to Hoyt, Fewster's sacrifice and Peckinpaugh's grounder to Wambaganss.

The Indians became rather menacing the eighth but a break in favor of the Yankees limited them to one run.

Former Champions Make Many Errors of Judgment, but Finish Well

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—Jumping on Jess the Cardinals had won the first three games of the series.

The Cardinals got a flying start when they knocked Ferdi Schupp from the box in the first inning for three runs on a double, a single and two passes. Southpaw Sherrod Smith went to the rescue and stopped the scoring in the first, but was slammed for eleven hits and four runs, giving the Cardinals a total of seven up to the ninth inning.

The Dodgers made nine hits and three runs off Haines up to the ninth and were playing bad ball in all directions. They had only two errors charges against them, but their mistakes in judgment had been numerous and they appeared hopelessly lost when Myers opened the ninth with a double to right off Haines and the score 7 to 3 in Haines's favor.

pitched ball in Chicago, but the heat forced his retirement and Mitchell had gone to first.

Mitchell fanned in the ninth, but Kilduff walked. Krueger flied to Schultz, making two out. Neis batted for Smith and singled to left, filling the bases. Olson doubled to left center, sending home Myers and Kilduff. Johnston sent a long fly to the left field foul line which McHenry dropped, after a hard run, and Johnston was given a double, letting in Neis and Olson and tying the score.

Southpaw Bill Sherdel went to the relief of Haines. Janvrin batted for Griffith. Sherdel's first pitch to Janvrin was wild and Johnston went home from second with the winning run. Janvrin flied to Mann.

Mitchell pitched the ninth for Brocklyn and the ending was dramatic. With one out McHenry was hit by a pitched ball. Schultz fouled to Janvrin. Lavan had two strikes called, when he raised a fly to Janvrin back of first. Janvrin reached the ball, but fell down and muffed. Jack Smith, who was running for McHenry, started with the crack of the bat when Lavan pepped, and when he saw the muffed ball roll away from Kilduff tried to score all the way from first. Kilduff picked up the ball

Where Youth Is Stranger Than Fiction

It is no even money bet-it is nothing to wager your ultimate shirt upon-yet there are prevailing possibilities that by late September we have at least one and possibly two nineteen-year-old champions for tennis

Between Vincent Richards and Bobby Jones, gray-haired, doddering veterans of twenty-eight and thirty-two face the keenest competition youth has yet sent to the rifle pit or sniper's post.

The odds will be against both, yet both have the stuff that is capable of breaking through if fate should so ordain.

Richards will find Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston in the road, while Jones, among others, will find "Chick" Evans and Francis Ouimet. So neither has anything approaching an open track ahead.

The Charge of Richards

Richards is coming upon the next championship at top speed. He has developed an astounding impetus through victories over strong tennis fields. He has added weight and strength to a game that has been tremendously improved.

players for one world series will knock down $5,000 each."

Yet Jim Barnes, after a long siege of training and a week of nerve wracking play against one of the greatest fields ever gathered, drew $500 in money for winning the open championship. If this is overcommercialization we need a new dictionary,

The Overdue Pirates

Between 1900 and 1909 Pittsburgh won four pennants. Since 1909 New York has won four, Chicago two, Brooklyn two, Boston one, Phila-Shuts Out the Tigers delphia one and Cincinnati one, with Pittsburgh making futile dashes year

After an eleven-year drought no wonder Pirate delegates along Rooters' Row are all keyed up over the possibility of a return to pennant normalcy. There is no expectancy one-half so keen as that of wondering how the dickens one is going to bag a brace of coveted admission cards at so much per bag.

reach the top. Both Richards and Jones have been through the fire often enough to have well burnished, competitive souls.

Jones was battling for the Southern championship at golf six years ago. He has had five years of championship training in taller latitudes.

Vincent Richards has been romping back and forth across the courts almost as long.

Both are kids from the viewpoint of years, but near veterans from the viewpoint of campaigning.

The main barrier in their way will not be lack of experience. It will be Tilden, Johnston, Evans and Ouimet, all ranking stars, but none of the results of the summary:

I from Miss Katherine Gardner, with the loss of only one game in each set, and Miss Gilleaudeau defeated Mrs. Arthur Duncan by exactly the same score.

Miss Leslie Bancroft proved too fast and too skillful for Miss Brenda Hedstrom, of Buffalo, a member of the rising tennis set, while another junior player, Miss Helen Hooker, forced Mrs. G. B. Hirsch to three hard-fought sets before yielding her match. Through the medium of a bye and a default, Mrs. Jessup, the title holder, reached the third round without making a stroke. The summary:

The victory enabled McGraw's team to remain just a game back of the Pirates, who won from the fathers' cloth.

Three Giant pitchers were used. Sallee relieved Big Fred and remained finer business suits in our in the box unt'l the ninth inning, when he stepped down for Jess Parnes to pitch to one batter in a pinca.

The Reds were first to score and mer, then snared two runs in the third inning. Toney got Kopf and Markle out of the way, but Neale singled to center. Bohne put Neale on third with a double to right and Groh sent both men over the plate with a single to left.

Kelly's Triple Wasted

The Giants passed up a chance for a run in the fourth when Kelly tripled to right center with two out, but was left. In the sixth the visitors managed to get a run on singles by Frisch and Young and a double by Kelly.

This run was nullified by one which the Reds scored in their half of the same inning. Daubert crashed the ball to the flagpole for a triple and counted when Duncan singled to center.

counted when Duncan singled to center.

In the seventh the Giants wrested the lead from Moran's men. Smith singled to left and Cunningham, who batted for Toney, singled to center, putting Smith on third. Burns worked a squeeze play, beating out a bunt down the first base line, while Smith was scoring. Burns and Cunningham advanced on Bancroft's out and scored when Frisch doubled to right center. Three hits and a base on balls resulted in only one run for the Giants in the ninth. Sallee, Burns and Bancroft singled, filling the bases. Frisch struck out, but Markle wabbled long enough to walk Young, forcing Sallee over the plate. Then he tightened up and retired the side without further scoring.
